

LIFE IN MY TRIBE

A CODED MESSAGE

Mico, a young Amazonian girl, has sent you this message to help you prepare for your trip to the Biodôme. But some of the words are in code—they're written backwards! The word "lizarB," for instance, means Brazil. Good luck!

Hi!

My name is Mico. It means "little yeknom." I live in htuoS America, in a country called lizarB. I live right in the middle of a laciport forest, where it's hot and dimuh all year long. The people in my village are called Arawete. The healer of our ebirt is called a shaman. He has cigam powers. He can talk with all the stirips of the forest. The emôdoiB has recreated an Arawate village. I'm sure you'll enjoy visiting it. It's a great way to learn all about life in my tribe.
