

LIFE IN MY TRIBE

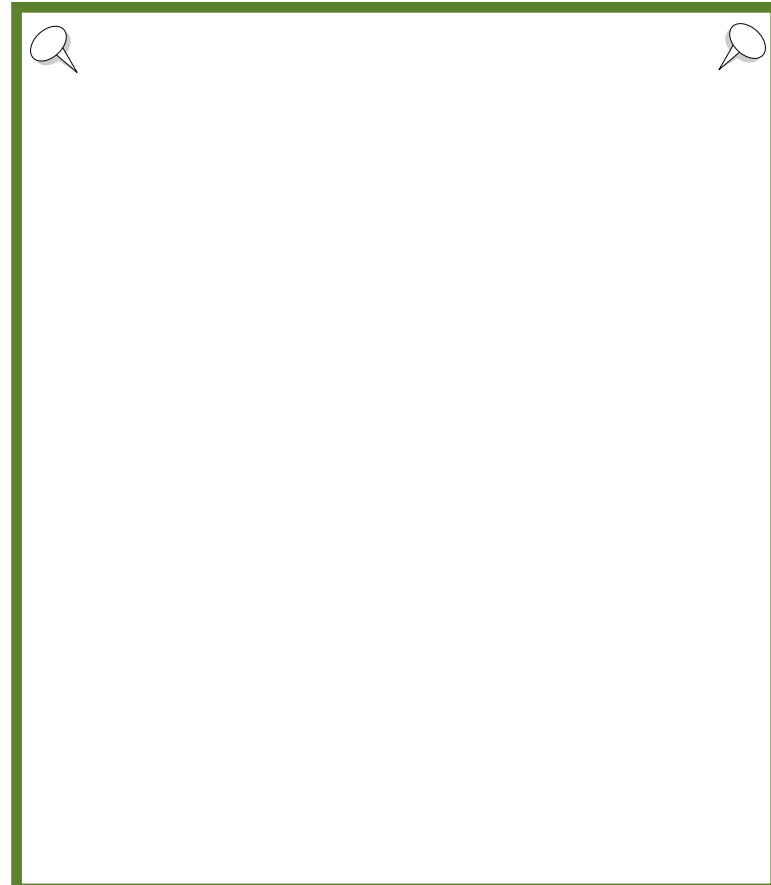

MY DAILY LIFE

Life in Quebec is much different from life in an Amazonian tribe. We may have the same basic needs, but the way we meet them is not at all the same! Look at the picture below. Can you tell what the Arawate children are doing? You're right! They're getting ready for a celebration. The Arawate are very curious—they'd like to know how we live here. So why don't you make your own album using drawings, a collage or photos to illustrate different aspects of life here in Quebec. You can even send them to the Biodôme. Who knows? Maybe Dr. Aldo Lo Curto will take the images of your daily life to Amazonia with him one of these days!
